RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE BSA REGARDING UNIT ASSETS TRANSFER

In most cases when a chartered organization wishes to end their relationship with the BSA, the transfer of the unit's assets to a succeeding chartered organization or the local council can be amicably worked out between all parties. Article XI, Section 1, Clause 2b of the "Rules and Regulations of the Boy Scouts of America", July 2011 edition, stipulates that any funds or equipment which may have been secured as property of the unit shall be held in trust by the chartering organization or the local council as may be agreed upon pending reorganization of the unit or for the promotion of the program of the BSA. Accordingly, chartered organizations wishing to end their relationship with the BSA immediately should transfer all assets to the local council for appropriate reassignment to the successor unit chartered organization(s) if any. The rules and regulations also stipulate here that in the event of the dissolution of a unit... the unit committee shall apply unit funds and property to the payment of unit obligations and shall turn over the surplus, if any, to the local council... for appropriate reassignment or use. These rules clarify that the local council has the authority to reassign assets acquired by units.
